Evaluated & Curated Visual Work Case Study

Visual example: editorial photography review, selection, and composition guides.

PROJECT OVERVIEW

I demonstrated experience in visual evaluation, art direction, and curation through a critical analysis of editorial and commercial campaigns. For this project, I selected a photographic series and rigorously examined its lighting, composition, and color treatment, producing a report with technical feedback and proposed improvements in art direction.

PORTFOLIO PROJECT

Curation & Editorial Visual Audit

A document or website case study featuring five annotated photographs, with comments on composition and what I would improve during the shoot or in post-production.

HOW IT WAS CREATED

01 SELECT	Select five photographs from one editorial series and define the campaign mood and visual objective.
02 REVIEW	Check framing, lighting, crops, skin tones, and color consistency; mark specific details on each image.
03 REFINE	Organize the annotations into an audit with practical retouching and on-set improvement suggestions.

Illustrative AI-generated image - replace with documented original work before publication.

Editorial Curation & Visual Audit

Five-image selection and actionable art-direction review

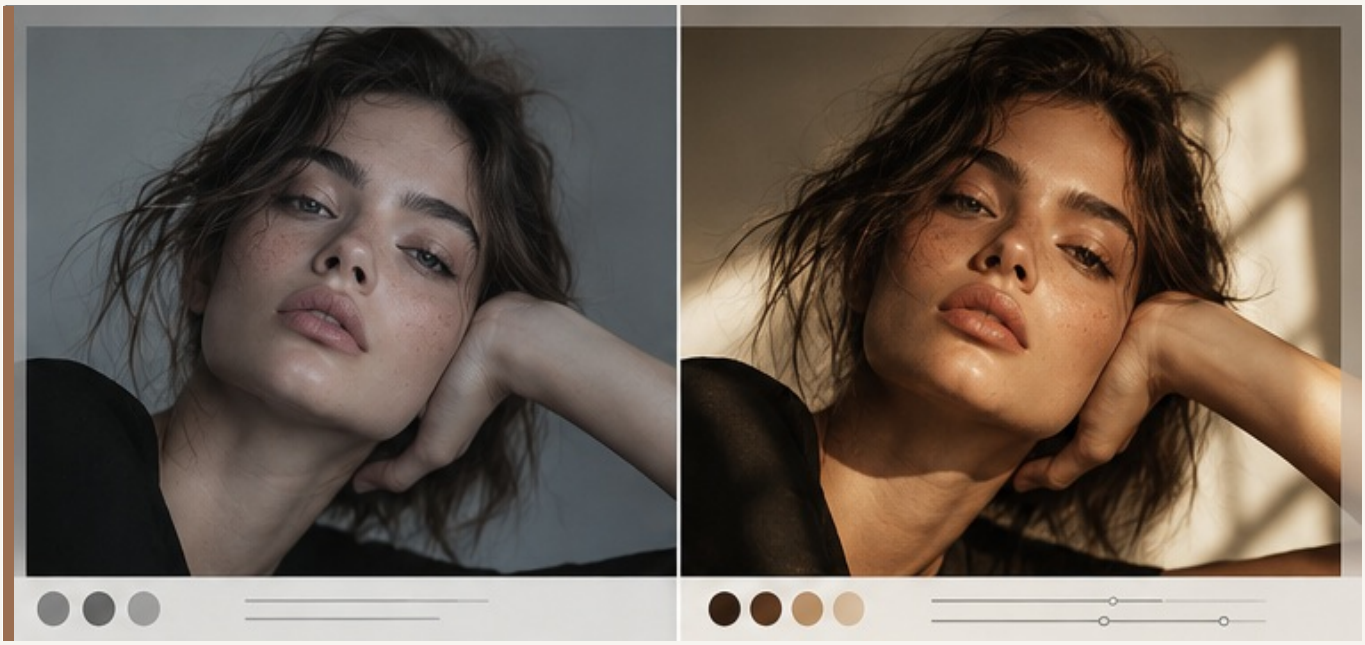

APPLIED EXAMPLE / FINISHED SAMPLE

ASSET / ROLE	OBSERVATION FROM IMAGE	RECOMMENDED ACTION
01 Hero portrait	Face is the visual anchor; loose hair adds movement.	Lead the story with this image; remove guide marks for publication.
02 B&W portrait	Monochrome treatment highlights facial structure.	Use as secondary frame; protect shadow detail.
03 Eye close-up	Tight crop draws attention to skin and expression.	Keep as a detail shot; avoid aggressive sharpening.
04 Shadow study	Window light introduces geometric rhythm.	Place between portraits as an intentional visual pause.
05 Fabric detail	Neutral fabric provides texture and palette continuity.	Match white balance to the lead portrait before export.

CURATION OUTCOME

Selected sequence: hero portrait -> monochrome -> eye detail -> light study -> fabric detail. Output: a five-frame editorial audit with clear image order and retouching notes.

Acute Visual Discernment Breakdown

Visual example: two color treatments of the same editorial portrait.

PROJECT OVERVIEW

In this project, I analyzed the technical and artistic quality of visual assets, examining composition (rule of thirds, visual weight, and leading lines), lighting setups (soft, diffused light versus hard, high-contrast light), and intentional color use. I explained why certain shots conveyed the right aesthetic value and how originality in the scene could elevate brand perception.

PORTFOLIO PROJECT

Selected vs. Rejected Take

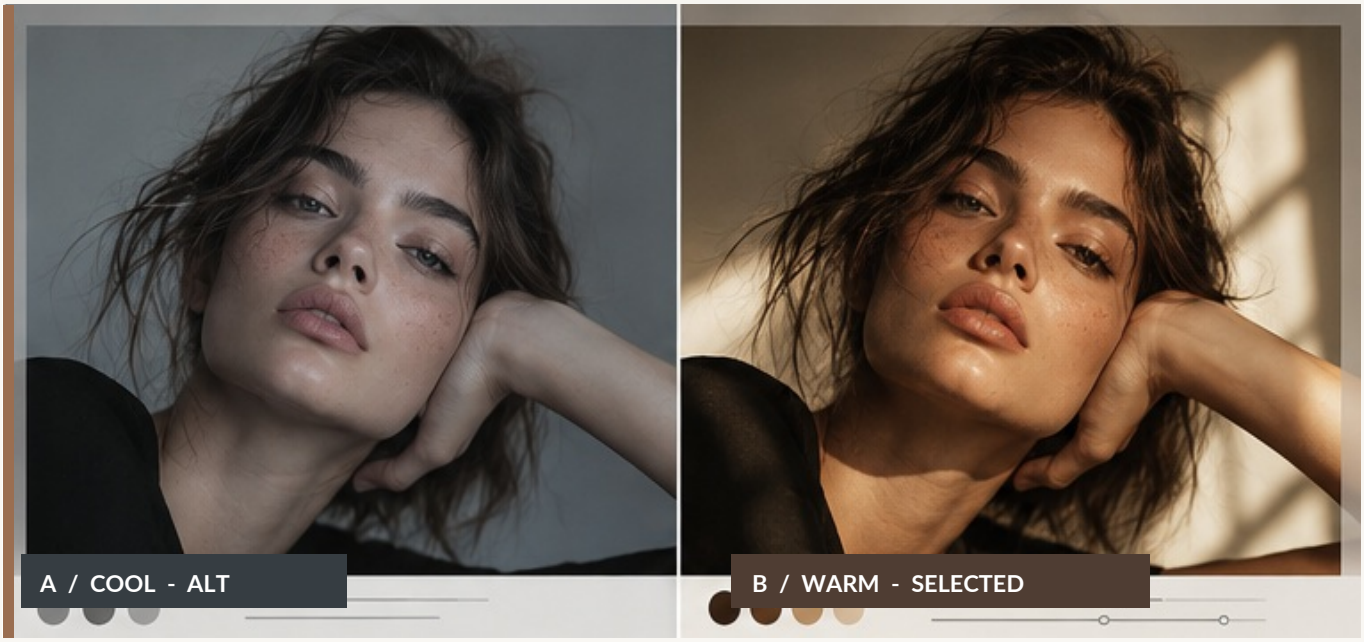

A side-by-side Before & After comparison explaining which image I would choose for a cover or campaign, based on lighting, color, and visual impact.

HOW IT WAS CREATED

01 PREPARE	Develop two contrasting light and color treatments of the same portrait for a fair comparison.
02 COMPARE	Assess exposure, shadow detail, skin tones, contrast, and the emotional tone of each version.
03 SELECT	Choose the image that best serves the campaign and explain the visual reasons behind that decision.

Selected vs. Rejected Portrait

Final creative decision between two visual treatments

APPLIED EXAMPLE / FINISHED SAMPLE

OPTION A / COOL TREATMENT

Gray-blue shadows, low perceived warmth, and a restrained mood. It reads as reflective and quiet, but the portrait feels less inviting for a warm beauty campaign.

OPTION B / WARM TREATMENT

Golden skin highlights, more directional window light, and stronger emotional presence. The amber palette aligns naturally with premium beauty storytelling.

DECISION MATRIX

Skin-tone impression	Cool / neutral	Warm / sunlit
Emotional reading	Reserved	Intimate / approachable
Best campaign fit	Fashion editorial	Natural beauty hero

FINAL CREATIVE CHOICE

Choose B as the campaign cover. Keep A as an alternate for a cooler fashion editorial. Before final export, retain realistic skin texture and avoid clipping the brightest facial highlights.

Visual Portfolio & Artistic Rigor Showcase

Visual example: a cohesive lifestyle-brand identity and applications.

PROJECT OVERVIEW

I developed a complete visual identity and art-direction system for a lifestyle brand, applying strong artistic rigor and aesthetic judgment. The project covered everything from conceptualizing the visual language and curating a typography and color moodboard to producing the final branded graphic assets.

PORTFOLIO PROJECT

Brand Identity & Art Direction

A brand-design case study showing the underlying concept, visual references, color palette, typography, and realistic mockups of the final applications.

HOW IT WAS CREATED

01 RESEARCH	Define a nature-inspired brand concept and gather references for imagery, textures, and materials.
02 DESIGN	Establish the botanical mark, earth-tone palette, typography, and consistent layout principles.
03 APPLY	Test the identity on skincare packaging, product imagery, and digital mockups for cohesion.

Botanical Brand Identity System

Concept brand guide derived from the skincare moodboard

APPLIED EXAMPLE / FINISHED SAMPLE

FICTIONAL BRAND CONCEPT / CALMA BOTANICAL

A nature-led skincare identity built around quiet luxury, tactile packaging, botanical line art, and the soft daylight shown in the moodboard.

DEFINED COLOR SYSTEM

Forest	Sage	Linen	Sand
#354232	#8B927A	#D9D2C2	#C5A07C

IDENTITY RULES

- Logo: delicate botanical outline, with generous clear space.
- Photography: natural shadows, stone, greenery, matte surfaces.
- Packaging: restrained labels and consistent neutral stock.
- Typography: light, elegant headings and clean body copy.

DELIVERABLE One-page identity guide: brand concept, palette, mark direction, image treatment, and three packaging applications.

Written & Verbal Feedback Report

Visual example: marked-up editorial layouts and actionable revision notes.

PROJECT OVERVIEW

I created visual review guidelines and detailed feedback reports for design and photography teams. My approach focused on communicating clear, actionable observations about framing, visual hierarchy, and color balance to ensure that deliverables remained consistent with the brand.

PORTFOLIO PROJECT

Art Direction Feedback & QA Sheet

A sample review sheet with technical comments on a design or photograph, including marked-up areas, specific observations, and recommended revisions.

HOW IT WAS CREATED

01 INSPECT	Review an editorial layout for image crops, spacing, alignment, hierarchy, and color balance.
02 ANNOTATE	Mark areas to improve and write concise comments explaining the issue and proposed adjustment.
03 VERIFY	Turn the notes into a QA checklist and compare revisions against the intended art direction.

Editorial Feedback & QA Report

Completed sample audit with prioritized revision tickets

APPLIED EXAMPLE / FINISHED SAMPLE

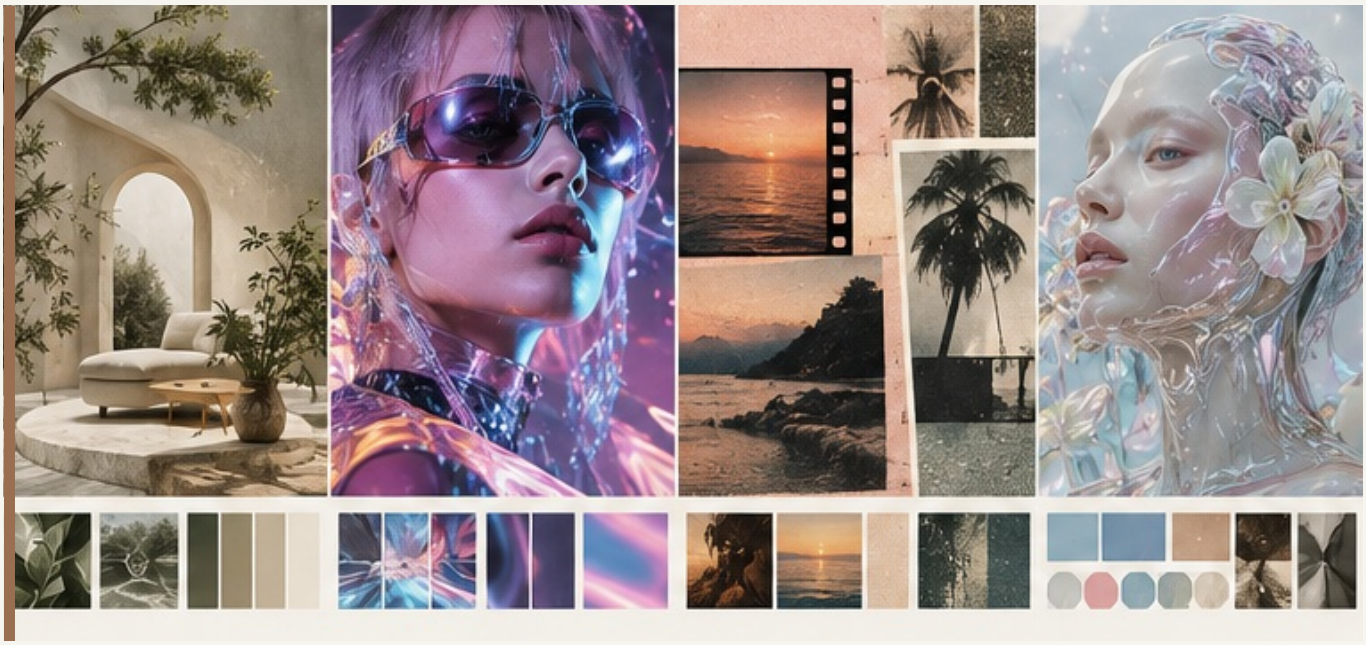

SAMPLE QA LOG / MARKED-UP EDITORIAL SPREAD

ID / PRIORITY	ISSUE OBSERVED	SPECIFIC REVISION
QA-01 / HIGH	Red proofing marks remain visible in the spread.	Remove all review annotations from the final output.
QA-02 / HIGH	Crop around the large left portrait feels tight.	Retain breathing room around the chin and shoulder.
QA-03 / MED	Text and images compete in the center column.	Increase separation; align baselines across columns.
QA-04 / LOW	Visual density varies across the two pages.	Balance white space and check the spread at print scale.

AUDIT RESULT

Four revision tickets documented, including two high-priority blockers. Next review: check a clean proof at 100% zoom before approving the final editorial PDF.

Visual Trends & Cultural References Manual

Visual example: a multi-style trend board spanning four distinct aesthetics.

PROJECT OVERVIEW

I researched and documented emerging visual and aesthetic trends in contemporary photography and design. I developed a report exploring Organic Minimalism, Cyber Y2K, Analog Photography, and AI-driven Synthetic Realism, connecting each movement to contemporary cultural references and explaining how brands can apply these styles commercially.

PORTFOLIO PROJECT

Visual Trend & Aesthetic Report

A visual trends guide featuring HEX color palettes, moodboards, cultural context, and examples of how different aesthetics can be adapted to commercial branding.

HOW IT WAS CREATED

01 RESEARCH	Collect references for Organic Minimalism, Cyber Y2K, Analog Photography, and Synthetic Realism.
02 ORGANIZE	Identify each style's key motifs, HEX color palettes, textures, typography, and cultural cues.
03 APPLY	Build a comparative moodboard and propose how each aesthetic could support a brand campaign.

Visual Trend Application Report

Four aesthetics translated into specific commercial uses

APPLIED EXAMPLE / FINISHED SAMPLE

FOUR-TREND APPLICATION GUIDE

01 ORGANIC MINIMALISM

Cream, moss, olive; organic materials.
Wellness, interior design, sustainable beauty.

02 CYBER Y2K

Electric violet, blue, metallic shine.
Gaming, music, digital-first youth launches.

03 ANALOG NOSTALGIA

Dusty terracotta, sunset orange, film grain.

RECOMMENDED DIRECTION

For the botanical skincare moodboard, use Organic Minimalism as the primary art direction; borrow Analog warmth for storytelling assets.

Remote Project Delivery & Quality Assurance

Visual example: project tracker with stages, owners, and review tasks.

PROJECT OVERVIEW

I independently managed and delivered complete visual projects in fully remote work environments. I implemented an organized asynchronous workflow for reviewing assets, consistently meeting delivery deadlines, quality standards, and project guidelines.

PORTFOLIO PROJECT

My Remote Workflow

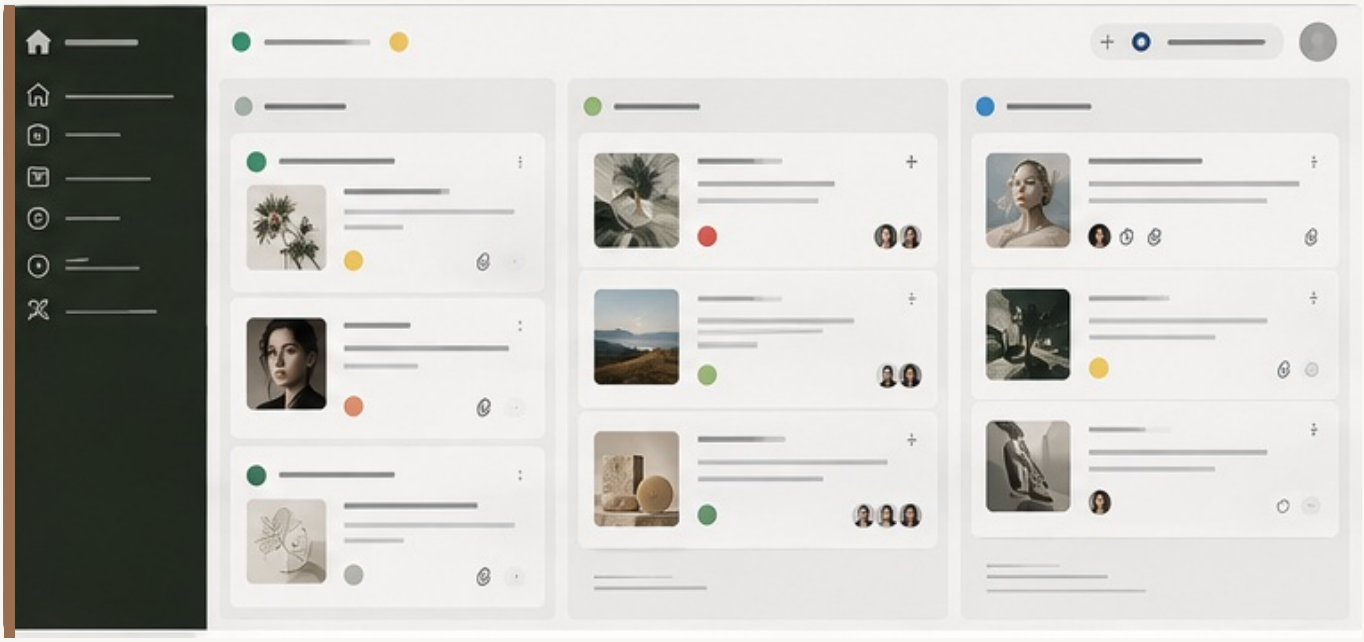

A short section in the portfolio biography or methodology outlining how I use tools such as Figma, Notion, and Google Drive to organize tasks, review assets, and deliver projects on time.

HOW IT WAS CREATED

01 PLAN	Define stages, responsibilities, priorities, milestones, and review deadlines in a project tracker.
02 COLLABORATE	Use Figma for visual review, Notion for task status, and Google Drive for organized asset versions.
03 DELIVER	Run a final QA check on formats, naming, consistency, and completeness before the handoff.
